SQUIRT.ORG'S KING COCK AWARDS 2016

When popular gay hook-up site Squirt.org began its search for the sexiest penis and launched the 2016 King Cock Awards in June inviting its tens of thousands of members to submit dick pic profile photos of themselves or a friend, little did they know that it would become the largest dick pic competition in the world! Over 6,000 Squirt.org members were nominated and at Squirt.org HQ they were awash with cock shots from around the world, with guys submitting pics of member's members that they believed were worthy of the King Cock 2016 crown. Squirt.org members voted from the top 30 King Cock nominees and following over 40,000 votes they crowned Squirt. org member IN66, who describes himself as an average guy next door type, with the title of King Cock 2016. Our money was on sexy runner-up Londonbroski though, who describes himself as outgoing and says he isn't afraid to be different from society's expectations of him. The winner IN66 received a free one-year Squirt.org Fan Club membership.

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT ANAL SEX

Apparently, only two thirds of gay men practice anal sex. So why don't the other third do it too? Axel Neustädteris, a freelance writer from Berlin who's written two successful sex guide books called Gayma Sutra and Play With Mel, thinks the problem starts with an information deficit. Many potentially passive men suffer from false assumptions about cleanliness and possible injury, while guys who could be active have unaddressed fears about what to do and about their ability to keep on giving their partner what it takes. The Bigger Bang: Everything You Need To Know About Anal Sex is the latest guidebook to be penned by Neustädteris, which he hopes will put all of that to rest. He talks to doctors and experts and answers important questions surrounding preparation and hygiene, and which ingredients go into lubricant. The book also claims to tell you the best way to find your partner's g-spot and along the way, bust the many myths about anal sex.

This much is sure: the more you know, the better you bang, hence the guidebook's title The Bigger Bang. Published by Bruno Gmunder, The Bigger Bang: Everything You Need To Know About Anal Sex is available from Amazon. However, if you're feeling lucky enter our competition and you could win yourself a copy! Just email your name and address to editorial@qxmen.com with The Bigger Bang Competition in the subject field, or pop your details on a postcard and post it to QXMEN, The Bigger Bang Competition, Suite 56/58 New House, 67-68 Hatton Garden, London ECIN 8JY. The competition closes at midnight on Wednesday August 31st when the winner will be drawn at random. Sorry guys but the competition's open to UK residents only.

You can use ANY lube you want with Nexus hard toys, which pleases me as I fucking love my silicone based lube (Although my bed sheets don't). There is also a stainless steel roller ball at the base to give a licking sensation to the perineum at the same time.

Cover your prostate toy with lube, all over; let it get nice and wet. You don't need to worry too much about the amount of lube you use as it's a simple 'wipe clean' toy. Perfect. If you're using silicone lube, put something between you and the bed unless you want oil stains. "Before you inSert the excel get your farther to rim you to relax you... Don't ASK,

INSIST!"

Excel's entrance circumference is four inches, which then slims and widens to 4.5 inches (its widest point). Begin by wetting your fingers and rubbing your hole to relax it and ready it for the penetration. If you have a partner with you, get them to rim you to relax you. Don't ask, insist! Excel's shaft is 4 inches tall, making it the perfect length to massage your prostate. Excel features a 'handle' for manual intervention; you can use the bulb that points downwards at its base to hold onto and rock the toy back and forth to caress on your prostate. If you aren't used to the penetration, the hard material entering can feel tough but will 'pop' into place due to its ergonomic design. You can also use it handsfree, as well as rocking on it in a 'prayer' position.

The steel roller ball pushes into your perineum, mimicking the sensation of a tongue flicking on the spot between your balls and hole. Don't be concerned if when you push the toy into place you get a stingy burn-like sensation, this is your body telling you that you've hit the prostate. I can always tell when I've hit mine because I get that tingle, alongside a sensation like I need to Excel's hard material leaves you feeling very full. It's a gorgeous sensation, thanks to the expert design. Often with anal toys, it's hard to really pinpoint the pleasure but Nexus know how to stretch you in all the right places. Take some time to use the toy without touching your cock or nipples, because it takes time to adjust to prostate pleasure. When you do want to pair up the pleasure, simply give yourself a hand-job whilst rocking the toy and fiddling with the levers. Let the ball grind on your perineum and when you're feeling brave, give the downwards handle a grind to push harder on your prostate. Remember your prostate is the gland that makes cum for you - so there's a reason to use it for fun.

When you build up to orgasm, you'll feel it build up from the gland outwards. It can be a very intense climax, so get ready to fire. Shooting always happens for me with prostate massage; I put this down to the internal pressure. I'm not a scientist but I can say it makes a HUGE difference and the spray is powerful. Removing the Excel when you've cum is easy, it's smooth and ergonomic so it guides out easily with a gentle pull through. Cleaning it is easy. Just use warm water and a toy cleaning spray or gentle soap. It's a good idea to remove the roller ball too to make sure there isn't any lube caught up in there.

- Use the Excel when you're getting head
- Sit up and grind backwards on your Excel, rolling your hips to push on the levers
- Use when fucking a bottom (though stick to fucking on your back or side to avoid it pushing out)
- Pair your Excel with a cock ring for an explosive shoot when you cum! Just mind your eyes... we've all been there
- Use Excel whilst fucking a masturbator.

I want to know what you think of the Nexus Excel Prostate Massager! When you've got yours (for only £9.99 at Clonezone.co.uk – so no excuses) email me: topher@clonezone.co.uk

There's 75% off the Excel at Clonezone, so now's your chance to train that P-Spot!
